STUDENT CONFERENCE OF Y. M. C. A. CONVENES AT GEORGETOWN THIS WEEK

Dr. John C. Acheson Presides At Opening Meeting Tonight

KY. DELEGATION LARGE

Fundamental Needs of College Man is Theme of Convention

The State Student Conference, auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association of Kentucky, opens tonight, December 7, at Georgetown College, Georgetown, and will continue in session Saturday and Sunday, December 8 and 9.

Some of the speakers to be at the conference are Dr. Charles S. Gardner, of the Baptist Seminary, Louisville; H. L. Seamans, State student secretary of Ohio; J. W. Bergtold, inter-student secretary of the south, Atlanta, Ga.; Dr. A. W. Taylor, of Disciple's Board, Indianapolis, Ind.; and Dr. John C. Acheson, of the Kentucky Women's College, recently president of the Y. M. C. A. International Constitutional Convention at Cleveland, Ohio. The latter speaker will open the conference tonight at 8:00 o'clock.

The general theme of the conference will be "A College Man's Fundamental Need."

A particular phase of work to be taken up by the conference is the promotion of a state-wide Bible study in the high schools of Kentucky. The State will be divided into sections convenient to the several colleges participating and assigned to a controlling factor of that college which in many instances will be the college Y. M. C. A.

MISS CRANE ACCEPTS POSITION AT VASSAR

Former Dorm Head To Be Hostess-Director of Alumni House

Miss Adelaide E. Crane, former head of the girl's dormitories at the University, has accepted the position as hostess-director at Vassar College of the new Alumni house which at present is in the process of completion.

This Alumni house, which overlooks the Vassar campus, is being erected by two wealthy graduates and will be used by Alumni and parents of the students; it will also have some dormitories for conventions and class reunions.

Since her return from Europe last summer, Miss Crane studied cafeteria management in New York. As she has accepted this position, however, she plans to spend the month of January in observing the methods of management of Grace Dodge Hotel in Washington, after which she will take a course in club management in Boston before going to Vassar to furnish the house before its opening in April. This position is really outstanding in the field of institutional management in the United States.

OWNER OF ZEV GIVES $1,000 TO U. K. STADIUM

Harry F. Sinclair, of New York, Makes Second Large Donation

Harry F. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation of New York, and owner of Zev, winner of the International horse race, has donated $1,000 to the stadium fund of the University of Kentucky.

In making his contribution Mr. Sinclair expressed his interest in clean athletics and his gratification of being able "to be of some small aid in the erection of the stadium."

Mr. Sinclair's contribution is the second large one to be made by men who are not Kentuckians or even interested in a business way in the state. William B. Thompson having made a donation early in the campaign.

The subscriptions of Mr. Sinclair and of Mr. Thompson were obtained through the efforts of Howard Payne Ingels, member of the board of trustees of the University of Kentucky, and a former student who is now a financial broker in Wall street, New York.

WILDCATS AND KITTENS ARE GUESTS OF COUNCIL AT FOOTBALL BANQUET

Curtis Sanders, Fullback, Is Chosen Captain of 1924 Kentucky Team

McLEAN TO BE MANAGER

High School Football Stars Are Present at Annual Dinner

Curtis Sanders, fullback, was elected to lead the 1924 Wildcat eleven, and Grandison McLean, was chosen manager at the annual football banquet held in the ball room of the Phoenix Hotel Monday evening. Sixteen varsity letters and eighteen freshman numerals were awarded at the dinner.

The new Cat captain is a junior in the college of Arts and Sciences and calls the neighboring hamlet of Nicholasville his home. "Sandy" was the main cog in the Cat eleven this fall and his election should be a very popular one. His performances in the Washington and Lee and Georgia Tech games the past season called forth favorable comment on all sides and attracted the attention of football experts all over the country. This year was his third year on the varsity, and his third year as a letter man.

McLean is a Lexington boy and is a brother of Price McLean, Cat center, who died as a result of injuries received in the Cincinnati game early in the season.

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, chairman of the athletic council, acted as toastmaster. The speakers were limited to three: Doctor Funkhouser, Dell Ramsey, retiring captain, and Curtis Sanders the captain-elect. After the athletes had finished eating the names of those receiving letters and numerals were read.

Those who were awarded the coveted "K" were Captain Dell Ramsey, Captain-elect Curtis Sanders, Ted Brewer, James Cammack, Charles Hughes, Turner Gregg, A. B. Kirwan, Kenneth King, Givens Martin, William McFarland, Ray Russell, A. T. Rice, W. H. Rice, Curtis Sauer, Ed. Stephenson, Leonard Tracy, Russell VanZant and Price McLean.

Freshman numerals were awarded to B. F. Arnold, A. D. Bickel, W. D. DeHaven, Clifford Fuller, F. R. Hanlon, A. Isaacs, A. S. Johnson, Uncas Miller, J. M. McCann, H. Portwood, J. W. Rice, W. Robinson, F. Smith, G. Simpson, H. M. Taylor, Captain E. Vossmeier, D. E. Williams, and student manager, L. K. Miller.

A number of high school football players were guests of the University at the dinner, and each was presented by Dr. Funkhouser. The boys present were: James Pence and Edward A. Cremer, Louisville Male; Paul Jenkins, Fred Ballmann, William Leake, Loyal Van Arsdall, Van Buren Ropke, Louisville Manual; J. W. Bronaugh, Nicholasville; Raymond Ellis and Edgar Snobks, LaGrange; Elbert Bell, Eminence; Henry McKinivan, Midway; Ray Sousley, James Sharpe, Richard Elliott, George Trieber, Roy Johnson, John McGurk, Billy Maloney, Ernest Crutcher, Leo Oden, Pete Cox, Bob Harp, Buddy Steele, David Shropshire, Grant Bell, Sterling Beasley, of Lexington.

GOV. MORROW NAMES NEW BOARD MEMBERS

Ernst and Wells to Remain On Board of Trustees of University

Richard P. Ernst, of Covington, and Rainey T. Wells, of Murray, have been reappointed members at large of the board of trustees of the University by Governor Edwin P. Morrow. Senator Ernst's and Judge Wells' terms as members of the board expired last January.

Lewis Lebus, of Cynthiana, and R. J. Bassett, of Leitchfield, were made new members of the board. Mr. Lebus succeeds the late T. L. Hornsby, of Eminence, and Mr. Bassett takes the place of J. H. Rash, of Henderson. Mr. Lebus and Mr. Bassett are selected from the state board of agriculture, three of whose members serve on the board of trustees of the institution. The term of the third member, Senator H. M. Forman, of Lexington, expires in 1924, as do the terms of Robert G. Gordon, of Louisville, and Richard C. Stoll, of Lexington, members of the board at large.

All members of the board of trustees of the University are appointed by the governor except the three alumni members and the ex-officio members, which include the governor of the state, the state superintendent of schools and the commissioner of agriculture.

The board, at its December meeting, to be held here December 19, will certify the names of the three alumni to the governor from which a successor to J. I. Lyle, of New York City, will be selected. Other alumni members are W. H. Grady, of Louisville, whose term expires in 1926, and Howard P. Ingels, of New York, whose term expires in 1928.

A CORRECTION

In The Kernel of November 23, a typographical error made the story read that the amount of the Bennett Prize for 1924 would be forty dollars in cash, "with the trustees' approval," when it was written and should have read "with the approval of the trustee, William Jennings Bryan."

AGRICULTURE COLLEGE SENDS ENTRIES TO THE CHICAGO STOCK SHOW

Kentucky Sheep and Hogs Are Shown in International Exposition

NO JUDGING TEAM SENT

Last Year's Judging Team Finished Tenth in Large Field

The University of Kentucky shipped a string of sheep and hogs Friday to compete in the classic competition of the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago, December 1 to 8.

The types of fat sheep exhibited by the University are, three Hampshire yearling wethers, one Hampshire lamb, one Southdown lamb, two Cheviot yearling wethers, two Cheviot lambs, and two grade yearling wethers; those of breeding class include a ring of four Cheviot ewes, and a Cheviot flock composed of one ram, two yearling ewes and two ewe lambs.

Five pens of breeding stock hogs will be shown classed as follows: five Berkshire, 150 pounds to 250 pounds; three Berkshire, 250 pounds to 350 pounds; four Berkshire, 350 pounds to 450 pounds; four Duroc Jersey, 250 pounds to 350 pounds; five Duroc Jersey, 350 pounds to 450 pounds.

Those from the University who have gone to Chicago in charge of the stock and are attending the exposition are: Professor E. S. Good, head of the Department of Animal Husbandry, Professor L. J. Horlacher, instructor in sheep and coach of the judging team, H. J. Barber, shepherd for the sheep, E. J. Wilfred, instructor in hogs and Oscar Reynolds, in charge of the hogs.

CATS ANNEX Y. M. H. A. X-COUNTRY RUN EASILY

Hall Wins Event With Gorman Second and Butler Third

Hall, Gorman and Butler "brought home the bacon" for the University of Kentucky when they ran in the order named in the Kentucky-Indiana A. A. U. cross country run which was held at Louisville Thanksgiving morning. The University of Louisville ran second with the Y. M. H. A. team finishing third and the Y. M. C. A. fourth.

The Wildcats rolled up a score of 22 points. The Cardinals scored 50 points with the Y. M. H. A. and Y. M. C. A. making 69 and 72 points respectively. Kentucky's score was 1, 2, 3, 7, 9; Louisville 4, 5, 12, 14, 15; Y. M. H. A. 8, 10, 13, 17, 21; Y. M. C. A. 6, 19, 20, 22, 24.

Hall took the lead at the sound of the whistle and was never headed throughout the three miles. His teammate, Gorman, gave him a good race and probably would have caused him considerable trouble had he not fallen near the end of the run. Despite the fact that the race was run during a constant downpour of rain and the ground was very slippery, Hall

ALUMNI SECRETARY

At a meeting of the Alumni Executive Committee, on November 26, W. C. Wilson, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Alumni Association, was appointed Alumni Secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Herbert Graham. Mr. Wilson was already in charge of the alumni office in the capacity of chairman of the Executive Committee.

In a statement made for this issue of the Kernel Mr. Wilson said, "It is my hope that the alumni office may not only continue to have the support of the alumni but that the work of organizing local alumni clubs in cities and towns both in Kentucky and out of Kentucky be carried on with greater zeal. Mr. Graham has accomplished far more than the average alumnus thinks and we are going to have to keep busy in order that desired results be obtained."

LAY CORNERSTONE IN RAIN

Ceremonies at Basketball Building Shortened on Account of Weather

A heavy downpour of rain was not sufficient to keep a good number of loyal alumni away from the laying of the cornerstone of the basketball building last Thursday morning. A much larger crowd was expected but the condition of the weather made it impossible to complete the program for those who came. The principal address of the morning, to have been made by J. J. McBrayer, of the class of '18, was not given. W. C. Wilson, chairman of the executive committee of the Alumni Association, presided. The list of manuscripts to be placed in the cornerstone was read by J. Frank Bataille and the cornerstone laying ceremonies were performed by Miss Nancy Innes.

The contents of the box which was placed in the stone included the names of the officers of the Alumni Association for the year 1923-24, names of the basketball building committee, the name of the athletic director of the University, a summary of the pledges made in all the campaigns for the Greater Kentucky campaign, copies of the Kentucky Kernel and of the Lexington Herald and Leader which had articles dealing with the stadium fund, and photographs of the work.

Throughout the day a registration booth was maintained, first at the University and later downtown at the Phoenix Hotel, at which all alumni were requested to register.

At 6 o'clock a dinner-dance for the homecomers and local alumni was given at the Phoenix. The Kentucky and Tennessee football teams were the honor guests at the dinner. A table decorated with the team's colors was fixed for each of the teams. Following the dinner a dance was held in the ball room, at which a large number of the student body were present in addition to the alumni. No after dinner speeches were made. Duncan Hamilton, president of the Kentucky Alumni welcomed the visiting guests and the Tennessee team with a few words.

The list of alumni in Lexington on homecoming day includes the following names: F. A. C. Thompson, F. F. Cawood, J. F. Gilbert, Guy Huguelet, E. R. Humphreys, L. F. Holton, N. E. Stone, J. M. Pope; Iley B. Browning, W. H. Noel, Margaret Smith, H. L. Noel, H. J. Weil, Raymond Connell, W. H. Roll, O. V. Elder, O. C. Green, J. C. Bosworth, Charles K. Dunn, R. E. Samuels, P. T. Atkins, H. Carnan, A. Carman, N. Smith, Ray Sauer, Frederick Jackson, Dorothy Jackson, Nancy Innes, E. Reed Wilson, Jack Dorr, Nellie Card, J. F. Shouse, E. R. Buruley, Grady Sellards, G. W. Menth, F. P. Bell, W. G. Kefauver, C. E. Smith, J. R. Drum, J. W. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Lewis, C. C. Montgomery, Lorraine Monroe, Geneva Rice, Irene McNamara, Frank Daugherty, J. W. Carnahan, Margaret Ligon, Lucille Rice, H. H. Bennett, Kitty Conroy.

PLEDGES NOW TOTAL 5,215

On Thanksgiving Day a summary of the pledges to the Greater Kentucky campaign showed that 5,215 subscriptions have been received. Of this number 963 are alumni and 242 are former students. The number of alumni living at the present time is 2,601, showing that approximately 40 per cent of them contributed to the Greater Kentucky campaign. During the month of September the Alumni Secretary sent out a letter addressed to "Dear Al" which was answered with 121 subscriptions amounting to $2,517 in two weeks. Since then other subscriptions have been received as a result of the letter.

The number of subscriptions received from alumni and former students was approximately the same as the number of paid memberships in the Association last year. This would tend to show that practically all those who receive the Kernel regularly are interested enough in the University to subscribe to the fund. A large membership would mean a great deal to the Association if this assumption is correct. The 1,207 subscriptions received from alumni and former students amount to $78,977.50 or an average of $65.45 for each.

A list of the total subscriptions shows the following: Student pledges, 971; University high school, 36; faculty, 222; Fayette county, 2060; rest of Kentucky, 1120; out of state pledges, 429, and freshmen, 377.

OWNER OF ZEV SUBSCRIBES

Howard P. Ingels Suggests How Similar Pledges May Be Obtained

The Greater Kentucky Campaign Committee received a letter last week from Howard P. Ingels, from the class of '05, containing a $1,000 subscription made by Harry F. Sinclair, a wealthy oil man and the owner of Zev. The subscription was obtained by the personal work of Mr. Ingels, who is a commercial banker on Wall street, connected with the house of Theodore Schulze & Company. In his letter Mr. Ingels said Mr. Sinclair told him he was keenly interested in clean athletics and considered it a great pleasure to contribute to the stadium fund.

In addition to subscribing $1,000 to the stadium fund Mr. Ingels has obtained two $1,000 pledges, the other one being from Col. William Boyce Thompson, and a number of smaller subscriptions.

Mr. Ingels has explained how he obtained the subscriptions in a paragraph of his letter which is quoted, in the hope that other alumni may act upon his suggestion:

"Every Alumnus probably knows some wealthy man or woman who makes a practice of giving a part of his or her yearly income to causes which are probably not one-half as deserving as the Student Loan Fund or the Stadium Fund, either of which will help to inspire some of the parent-blooded Anglo-Saxon Americans—girls and boys from the Kentucky mountains. These persons put their money where they think it will do the most good. Is there any place it will do more good than helping some boy or girl through college? If presented properly, the average man or woman will become deeply interested, regardless of whether he or she actually subscribes. Try it out—it is worth while."

The paragraph from Mr. Ingels' letter is quoted without comment save on the last line. He says it is worth while. It certainly appears that he is correct with two large subscriptions to back up his statement.

SHIELD WILL ADORN CLUB

The Alumni office received a letter last week from Charles R. Brock, a prominent attorney in Denver, Col., and a member of the class of '90, requesting that a copy of the University shield in the correct colors be sent to him. Mr. Brock said that the University Club of Denver was enlarging its club rooms and members from different Universities had been granted the privilege of having their respective college shields inserted in the windows of the main lounge, main dining room and ladies dining room. He said that institutions like Yale, Harvard, Columbia, Michigan, Amherst and Princeton would be represented and that he had subscribed the amount necessary to have the University of Kentucky shield placed in one window.

The Alumni Association feels very proud to have the Kentucky shield on the windows of the University Club, especially in the company of the larger institutions named, and as the gift of Mr. Brock.

Mr. Brock is a very loyal and active member of the Association. He is chairman of the Patterson Memorial fund and has contributed $1,500 to the Greater Kentucky Campaign fund. In his letter Mr. Brock suggested that the seal, or shield, of the University be stamped regularly on the masthead of the Kernel. The idea sounds like a very good one. Many college publications have the shield of the institution upon the masthead and it makes a very attractive addition to the paper.

"I regret to have you note that I am not a graduate of the University of Kentucky. I had some senior work in my last year, 89-90 and President Patterson wanted me to stay and finish, but I was having a hard time working my way through at ten cents an hour. Then came the lure of Oklahoma opening for settlement, so I left to chase the rainbow, thinking I would come back and finish. The rainbow is still shining—not so brightly now, however. For the University and the student body, I am wishing much success, and hope they will bring every laudable undertaking to a splendid finish."—R. A. Brown (farming), Miami, Okla., Route 8, Box 60.

Henry Fields McKenney is County Agent, Grant County, Williamstown, Ky. He married Miss Marian J. McKinley in 1917. They have one son, Henry Fields, Jr.

One of the most regular of the alumni is John Rollie Foster. Except for the two years of 1917-1919, when he served his country as captain, Fifth Regiment, U. S. Marine Corps, his record of "dues paid" shows an unbroken line. He is superintendent of C. W. and F. Coal Company, Mine No. 1, Benton, Ill. The first two years after receiving his degree in mine engineering, he was with the Wisconsin Steel Company and entered the employ of the C. W. and F. Coal Company in 1916, and returned to them after his discharge in August, 1919. He married Miss Nellie Walker, April 14, 1921. They have a little son, John Rollie Foster, Jr., aged seven months.

Henry C. Kimbrough, with Liggett & Myers Company, Lexington, Ky., has been with this firm since 1916, with the exception of the period of his service in the World War from 1918 to 1919. He was a member of U. S. Base Hospital No. 40. From the time he graduated until 1916, he was in the insurance business in Denver, Colo. He married Miss Bernice Caudill, of Shelbyville, Ky., December 15, 1921. They are living at 721 Bullock Place.

The members and pledges of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity entertained Saturday evening with a delightful dance at the chapter house on south Limestone street.

The rooms were decorated with evergreen branches and holiday berries, and the fraternity shield in purple and gold lights held the place of honor in the hall.

The chaperones were Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hall, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jackson, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Thomson Bryant.

The hospitality included Misses Grace Davis, Elizabeth Williams, Louise McCormick, Margaret Owens, Lurline Bronaugh, Mary Marshall McMeekin, Margaret Lavin, Louise Adkins, Mary Snell Ruby, Marjorie Warden, Kathleen Lowry, Morjorie Riddle, Dorothy Humphreys, Mildred Cowgill, Esther Gilbert, Edna Gordon, Elizabeth Ragenstein, Mary Peterson, Eleanor Chenault Smith, Martha Pate, Ellen Hughes and Minnie Wheeler.

Men invited from other fraternities were Messrs. Arthur Bentley, Karl Hols, Paul Rouse, Sidney Neal, Samuel Foster, Robin Dinwiddie, Edward Fitch, William Smith, Dan Morse, Layman Mays, Clyde May, Dell Ramsey, Marshall Barnes, John R. McClure, Walker Hall and Eddie Garth.

Merrie Yuletide!

You know that much of the season's joy comes from the thoughtful exchange of gifts. Of course, you want to give presents that are different, and yet you want them to be appropriate.

Wise men of old bought gifts of jewelry. Today, jewelry is still one of the most appropriate of gifts.

You will be delighted to look over the beautiful things we have conceived. There are any number of attractive pieces that will make most pleasing gifts.

RESIDENT COACH

The football season just ended discloses the necessity at the University of the introduction, in our judgment, of the resident coach system of handling the teams.

While we are not discouraged, we frankly admit we are gravely disappointed at the outcome of the football season and do not mean at this moment to connect with that discouragement any expression of adverse criticism upon either the coaching staff or the coaching system employed throughout the season just closed.

It has been our custom to employ our coaches at the close of the football season for the brief period of one season. The result has been that the coaches have taken up their work about the middle of September and worked loyally and faithfully until the season closed. Then they returned to other vocations and we did not see them for nine months. It is not our purpose to assume to dictate conclusions to the Athletic Council of the University, but it is the writer's positive conviction that the sooner we get upon a resident coach basis the sooner we will be able to coordinate and unify energies that are now running loose at both ends. A study of football in other institutions, we think, where coaches are employed throughout the year and live in the city, thus giving their entire time, thought and energy to selection and training of proper material, will force the conclusion that our next selection should be upon the resident coach basis.

We are not aware what steps the Athletic Council will take with reference to next year's coach or coaching system. We can only say that to a large number of students, results of this season have been disappointing and that we are positive that a resident coach system would cure many of the defects that have marred the season of 1923.

WISE SELECTION

The election of Curtis Sanders, the flashy fullback of the Wildcat team, as its captain for the season of 1924 wins the approval of the University students uniformly.

Thru every phase of defeat or victory that has come to the team during the season just closed, Sander's loyalty and ability have been a constant and abiding quantity. Victory has not turned his head nor has defeat brought chagrin to him. Virtually every time he has been called on he has performed the service sought; the Kernel feels and knows that the honor that has come to him is richly due him and we rejoice in it.

With Sanders at the helm, as was the case when the redoubtable and loyal Dell Ramsey led it, we are confident that its chief will avoid no hardship and dodge no duty to the end that a successful season may crown the team's efforts in 1924.

Yea, Sanders, Let's go.

Sandburg versus Shakespeare. Bananas versus Beethoven. Dickens is doomed, Paderewski is passe and Tradition, to continue the unnecessary illiteration, is trembling; trembling in a gusty wind created by the turbulent modernisms of jazz hounds, Dadaism devotees and Cubistic cut-ups. Strangely enough, our old-fashioned professors refuse to believe it. On the contrary, they apparently do not evince the slightest signs of trepidation. Do they not realize that Dr. Elliott's classics, all five feet of them, are faced with imminent danger? Why, on this very campus, are individuals who trace futuristic phantasms with one hand, while the other has a half-nelson on the tenets of Imagism.

Yet there is something distasteful in the flippancy manner our established high-brows dismiss everything smacking of modernism. Since Art is avowedly pursued for Art's sake, what matters if it speaks an unintelligible language. As for the recent banana question, why direct the shafts of criticism at a modern target. Witness this beautiful ballad from the venerated Shakespeare: "O, do de, do de, do de, and Do de, de, de, Sessa."

While we're on the subject, we would like to bet the In Memoriam Mack Garner rode has had more influence on American than the In Memoriam Tennyson wrote.

With the possible exception of an overwhelming consumption of bootleg liquor, the biggest result we observed of the Tennessee game was a prolonged outburst of heartfelt profanity.

It is hard to understand why Kernel reporters apply the term "eyesore" to the city dump when right here on the campus is Neville Hall.

While we do not wish to lower the attendance at Miss Goff's functions, we feel it our duty to inform freshmen that the coming Denishawn dancers is a strictly high class production.

STUDENT CONFERENCE

Georgetown College will give a complimentary luncheon to a select group of faculty men from other colleges of the state, particularly those interested in Association work, Saturday, December 8, at 12:30 p. m., at which time Dr. C. S. Gardner, Dr. A. W. Taylor and J. W. Bergthold will address the faculty group. The University of Kentucky faculty members expected to be present are President McVey, Judge Lyman Chalkley, College of Law; Dr. P. P. Boyd, Dean of College of Arts and Sciences; Dr. W. S. Taylor, Dean of the College of Education; Prof. C. R. Melcher, Dean of Men; and professors T. T. Jones, P. E. Karraker, Brinkley Barnett, E. A. Bureau, C. W. Mathew, E. S. Good, H. H. Downing, W. S. Webb, H. J. Scarbrough, H. S. Wolfe, Harry Best, D. H. Peak, business agent, and Bart N. Peak, Secretary University Y. M. C. A.

Sixteen of the student delegates from the University are Thomas Baird, James Russell, S. R. Hill, R. E. Clark, Elmer Leachman, John Dabney, Marshall Barnes, V. L. Sturgill, J. C. Brown, A. J. Glenn, A. L. Atchison, Basil Frost, Marion Insko, Harold Stenken, Frederick Elley and William C. Devauer. The other four delegates have not been selected.

U. K. CADETS MAY MARCH IN INAUGURAL PARADE

Plan to Leave Lexington at Nine O'clock and Return in Afternoon

The cadet regiment of the University has been extended an invitation to participate in the inaugural parade to be held in Frankfort Tuesday, but as yet no funds have been supplied by the committee to defray the transportation expenses. Arrangements have been made whereby a special railroad rate has been obtained and after taking a vote of the cadets, it was found that about seventy per cent are willing to pay their own expenses. The band will have its expenses paid by the inaugural committee and it is probable that upon a favorable report by the University council the entire regiment will accompany them.

In the event of favorable disposition by the committee the regiment will be formed at 9 o'clock so that they may arrive in the capitol city in time to form in the parade which will move off at 11 o'clock. The regiment will return late Tuesday afternoon, but as yet the exact time is not known.

The cadets realizing that by parading at Frankfort they will be putting the University before the leaders of the state in a favorable light, have shown their loyalty by undergoing many difficulties in order that the desires of the military department may be realized.

L. H. CARRISS SPEAKS IN INTEREST OF THE BLIND

Addresses Freshman Chapel and Classes of Education Department

L. H. Carriss, of New York City, secretary of the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, spoke in chapel at the fifth hour Tuesday.

Mr. Carriss is in Central Kentucky for a few days in the interest of this movement, and the University is very fortunate in securing him to address the students along this line. He has spoken to several classes, especially in the educational department, expressing to future teachers the importance of care for the eyes and of means of detecting deficiencies and of methods by which students may be helped. In chapel Mr. Carriss told something of the institutions for the blind and the various causes of blindness, urging the importance of care and protection of the eyes.

The musical number of the program was given by Mr. Robert Clem, who has a leading part in the opera "Martha." A plan for the purpose of raising sufficient funds to enable the freshman class to reach its goal in the stadium drive was presented to the class. The plan is to divide the class into 16 groups of divisions which will solicit the alumni and friends of the University over the entire state during the Christmas holidays, or before January 15.

SIGMA XI MEETING

The second regular meeting of the Kentucky Chapter of Sigma Xi will be held Friday evening, December 7, in room 108 of the Science Building. Dr. Edward A. Caslick, assistant in the department of Veterinary Science in the Experiment Station, will address the society on "The Study of a Parasite Found in the Ligamentum Muchea of the Horse." All members of Sigma Xi are invited to attend. In the absence of the president, Dr. Funkhouser, the vice-president, Professor Marietta Eichelberger, will preside.

How do you visualize your job? The story of the three stone-cutters leaving nothing of wisdom to be said. They were working on a stone. A stranger asked what he was doing. "I'm working for $7.50 a day he replied. "And you?" the stranger asked the second. "I'm cutting this stone" growled the laborer. When the question was put to the third stone-cutter, he answered, "I'm building a cathedral."—The Christian Register.

PROF. JONES COMPETES FOR BOK PEACE PRIZEOutlines Plan of Finance For Four Powers to Prevent War

J. C. Jones, professor of political science of the University, has made proposals for the working out of a plan for the association of all nations, in a nation-wide contest for the Bok Peace Prize, which in all probability will be considered as one of the best proposals made by any statesman or professor in the United States.

Professor Jones proposes that the Federal Reserve Banking system of the United States, the Bank of London, the Bank of France and the Reichstag Bank of Germany, combine into a world federation bank whose capital stock shall be distributed so as to give the United States 51 per cent of the capital stock; the Bank of London, 20 per cent; the Bank of France, 12 per cent; the Bank of Germany 8 per cent, the balance of the stock to remain as treasury stock which may be distributed to other nations at some future date. Professor Jones proposes that the control of the bank be under a directorate, which shall be chosen by the different stock holders of different nations involved, whose voting strength shall be in proportion with the amount of stock held.

According to a statement given out by Professor Jones, his proposals are made in order to finance the business of the world with safe credit securities; to issue standardized currency, and against securities held similar to the place now in use by the Federal Reserve system in the United States; to prevent any nation from going into war without the financial aid of and without taking precautions laid down in the League of Nations pact; and to refuse financial support to any nation in the League of Nations which supports, financially, any nation which has not fulfilled the stipulations of the League.

Phi Kappa Pi Created From Eleven Locals at Annual Meeting

The Greek world announces the arrival of a new fraternity. Phi Kappa Pi, born at the closing session of the annual Inter-Fraternity Conference on December 1 at the Pennsylvania Hotel in New York City, represents eleven local college fraternal organizations. The institutions whose representatives voted for the new fraternity were: George Washington University, Pennsylvania State College, Iowa State College, University of New Hampshire, Bucknell University, Temple University, University of Chattanooga, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Davidson College, University of Illinois, and Stevens Institute, from whose local fraternity Phi Kappa Pi takes its name.

The Inter-Fraternity Conference, which meets annually in the City of New York at the Pennsylvania Hotel, on Friday and Saturday following Thanksgiving, consisted of the officials of fifty-four fraternities. This year the business under consideration was the methods whereby the usefulness of the national and local fraternities may be broadened and rendered more effective in college life.

At the same place and same time, forty or more representatives from the local Inter-Fraternity Councils met and formed a national conference which will meet each year.

Also the local college fraternities from eighty institutions met and from this group the eleven previously mentioned formed the new fraternity, Phi Kappa Pi.

CATS CLOSE 1923 GRID SEASON WITH LOSS TO TENNESSEE VOLUNTEERS

Four Victories, Two Ties And Three Defeats is Record of Season

RAMSEY, SANDERS STAR

W. and L. and Tech Games Best Contests of Year For Kentucky Eleven

Another football season has come and gone, victories and defeats have played their parts in the Wildcat schedule and the only remnant of the pigskin game is the annual and unnecessary picking of all-elevens and the thoughts of "next year."

The Wildcats closed their 1923 season with a rather ignominious defeat at the hands of the Volunteers of the University of Tennessee—a contest that lacked the dashing, powerful play of a Kentucky eleven, and one that was a disappointment to countless numbers of students, alumni and supporters who witnessed the "Turkey Day scrap." They lost to Centre, 10-0, in a game that might be better styled a swimming meet, but one for which there is no alibi. They fell before the attack of the Crimson Tide of Alabama, by delaying their offensive until too late to catch the Tuscaloosa outfit.

On the other hand there were two tie contests, both moral victories for the Cats, that gave Kentuckians an insight as to the true strength of the Blue and White. Better contests than the 6-6 tie with Washington and Lee Generals, in which Kentucky came back in the last half and turned loose an attack that carried the pigskin 70 yards for the tying touchdown, with a badly crippled team, and the 3-3 contest with Georgia Tech's famous Golden Tornado, have seldom been witnessed by followers of the grid sport.

Four other games, Marshall, Cincinnati, Maryville and Georgetown, resulted in Cat victories but were contests that failed to tax the Kentucky eleven to its utmost to win.

The season opened with Marshall on hand, and with the Blue and White victors by a 41-0 count. Cincinnati came next and although the Cats won 14-0, they received so many injuries in the contest that scarcely an athlete who participated in the W. & L. game the following week, went into the scrap without an injury. The Bearcat contest resulted in the unfortunate death of Price McLean, Cat center, who died of injuries received in the scrap.

Washington and Lee jumped from Lexington, Va., to Lexington, Ky., to furnish entertainment for the Cats October 13. With the Cats badly crippled, the Generals appeared certain victors, but the Kentuckians bucked up and after trailing second for thirty minutes, turned loose a determined offensive that netted them the tying marker.

Maryville fell next, losers by a 28-0 count and was closely followed by Georgetown, also defeated by a 35-0 score. The annual Centre controversy November 3, played in several inches of mud and during a steady downpour, resulted in the first defeat of the season for the Cats.

Alabama at Tuscaloosa on November 10, ended in a 16-8 score with the Cats on the short end. The Cats again trailed for three quarters, then opened up an attack in the last period that netted eight points, but failed to catch the flashy Crimson eleven.

November 17 again found the Cats far to the South, this time in Atlanta, where the Golden Tornado and the Blue and White tied up in a wonderful exhibition of football on the part of the Kentuckians. By this it is not meant to imply that Tech failed to play her best but to say that the Cats put up a game that was practically unbeatable. The final count was 3-3, with the toe of Curtis Sanders, captain-elect of the 1924 eleven, tying the score in the third period.

Then came the catastrophe—the Thanksgiving contest with Tennessee. Playing a team that had tied and barely managed to defeat elevens whom the Cats had little trouble in defeating by four and five touchdowns, the Wildcats utterly went to pieces and put up a game that bore no semblance of the previous scrap with Tech.

To sum it up—the Cats of 1923 were an off and on team. They had their good days and they had their off days. The squad contained several brilliant gridders, some of whom were prominent in all of the contests, and some of whom were hampered by injuries the greater part of the season. Captain Dell Ramsey, although shifted around considerably, played brilliantly at each position he occupied. Curtis Sanders put up as good an exhibition in backing up the line in the General scrap, as has been witnessed on Stoll field for many a day, and played almost equally as well throughout the entire season. Others had their bright days but none put up the consistent games that the two mentioned above did.

Engineers have started surveying the site for the new football stadium. The new plant will be located on the present site of Stoll Field, but will be moved a little to the West. Work on the stadium, whose plans call for one of the best stands in the South, will be started at once.

SCRAPS

S. A. Boles, athletic director of the University, and Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, chairman of the Athletic Council, left yesterday morning for Washington, D. C., to attend the Southern Conference meeting.

Seven of the nine contests on the tentative grid schedule for 1924, will be played in the new stadium. Providing the arrangements for Wesleyan to furnish the entertainment in the opener September 27, there will be six consecutive contests on the local field.

The Champ Pickens cup, a trophy donated by a prominent Alabama sportsman to be given to the southern team receiving the highest number of votes from a committee composed of prominent southern sport writers, was awarded to Vanderbilt after the Nashville eleven had received all but one vote. Washington and Lee received the other vote. Most of the committee voted the Generals as the second best eleven in the south, but chose Vanderbilt as their first selection.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found an All-Kentucky eleven. We suppose we could have named ten Kentucky men and one Georgetown Tiger on it, since the Tigers failed to get in Kentucky territory on October 27, but we didn't. To give our reasons for the selections would take too long but we will say that a backfield combining the dash and speed of Herb Covington and "Turkey" Hughes, the kicking of Spurlock, and the line plunging of Curtis Sanders would be hard to beat.

Work on the new basketball building is progressing rapidly but it looks like the Cats will not be able to get into their new home before the first of February at least. Until the new court is finished the cage stars will shine in the old gym.

Louisville, Sewanee, V. M. I., and probably Wesleyan will return to the Cat schedule next year. Washington and Lee, Centre, Alabama and Tennessee are the only ones who were on the 1923 program who will meet the Cats next fall. The Centre game on Nov. 1, will be home coming day and dedication day for the new stadium. The Tennessee game has been moved up to November 22, the Saturday before Thanksgiving.

A glance at the basketball menu shows nine out of thirteen contests scheduled to be played in Lexington. There will be no trips save the one to the Southern Conference Tournament, after the first of February, as athletic authorities expect to get into the new building by that time.

Curtis Sanders, captain-elect of the 1924 eleven, led his teammates in scoring, putting across a total of 40 points. Al Kirwan with 31, and Leonard Tracy with 18, were his closest competitors. Evans scored 13, Brewer 12, W. H. Rice 6, King 6, Ramsey 6, and A. T. Rice 1. The Cats ran up a total of 135 points for the season against 53 for their opponents.

The place kicking of Sanders after touchdown and in the game was a feature of the season. In fifteen tries to add the point after a touchdown, "Sandy" failed but twice, once against Washington and Lee and once against Alabama. His only attempt at a field goal was in the Tech game when he booted a perfect goal from the 18-yard line and tied the score.

KITTENNETTES BEGIN NET SEASON PRACTICE

Squad is Enriched By Star Players From High School Team

At the first summons to the scrap for title of Kittenettes, Captain Lucy Wilson led an enthusiastic squad of promising material to the waiting court Monday afternoon. Coach Bart Peak highly recommended to his new position by four years varsity experience and close connection with basketball since his graduation met the squad with plans for developing a real team in a real way.

The team suffers a heavy loss of four letter men of last year. The letter men remaining are Lucy Wilson, Betty Carroll, Lenore Thompson and Eugenia O'Hara. The squad is enriched by star players from outstanding high schools of the state.

Manager O'Hara promises an interesting and attractive schedule for the forthcoming season. Peabody, Western Normal and Chattanooga will play at Lexington, in addition to the yearly games with Georgetown, Wesleyan and University of Louisville.

All girls aspiring to basketball stardom are invited to come to practices held daily at 4:30 in the woman's gymnasium.

Opening Contest Will Be Played With Vanderbilt Commodores January 1

Basketball reigns supreme these days since the demise of King Football and has already begun to attract the attention of numerous court fans who throng the gym each afternoon to watch George Buchheit send his charges through their paces in preparation for the opening contest of the season with Vanderbilt, here January 1.

Although last Friday afternoon was designated as the formal opening of the 1923-24 court practice, the athletes did not get well under way until Monday afternoon when Buchheit sent them through their first real hard work of the year. Over thirty candidates have reported this far to the former Illinois star but late arrivals are expected to swell the total number much nearer the century mark before another week passes.

All of the members of the 1923 Kitten squad with the exception of Leonard Tracy and Burgess Carey have reported for work. Tracy is taking a little rest between the football season and the starting of the basketball grind, but will be out before next week. Carey is at Washington and Lee.

Captain "Chuck" Rice reported

Monday, despite his injured knee, and spent the afternoon hobbling around, shooting goals. He has the injured knee in a flexible steel brace and expects to have it well in time to get into the Vandy game. "Turkey" Hughes is also bothered by a bad knee and has been sticking with Rice through the practices.

The Kitten stars, led by Jimmie McFarland, captain last year, and all-American interscholastic forward two years ago, are composed largely of former Lexington High Blue Devils who annexed the national championship at Chicago in 1922. With the exception of Hughes and "Chuck" Alberts, all received their preparatory training at the Senior High School and have played together for several years. McFarland, Milward, Underwood, Helm, Tracy and Davis were members of the national champ team.

Bill Poyntz, Carl Riekin, Ralph Boren and Bill Wilkinson, with Rice, compose the material left from last year's letter men. Several of the scrubs of last season are out and promise to give the former yearlings and varsity men a run for the regular positions.

FIRST TERM BASKETBALL SQUAD STARTS PRACTICE

Fifty Yearlings Report to Coach Burnham at Opening Workout.

Regular practice for the freshman basketball team began Monday evening, with fifty candidates out for positions on the team. This number was so far in excess to what the coaches had expected, it was a very difficult task to map out a plan to handle all of the men.

A plan was finally decided upon by which ten teams were organized. These teams are numbered from one to ten, and a temporary schedule fixed whereby each team will get a chance to play the other on a certain night. By this plan the coaches can watch the playing of each of the men.

There are so many teams that each of them does not get to play each night, but only get to play about twice a week. The coaches will cut the squad as soon as possible so that the better material will receive more practice, and each man will get individual attention.

From the looks of the candidates it seems that this year's freshman team will be just as good as last year's team. Although there is no organized machine such as the coaches had in the "Blue Devils" last year, to start out with, there are a number of individuals who with a little practice together, should make one of the strongest freshman aggregations in the south.

ANTOINE LAVOISIER
1743-1794

Born in Paris, son of a wealthy tradesman. As a student won a prize for an essay on lighting the streets of Paris. Held various Government posts. A martyr of the Reign of Terror. Founder of modern chemistry.

They couldn't destroy the work he did

"The Republic has no need for savants," sneered a tool of Robespierre as he sent Lavoisier, founder of modern chemistry, to the guillotine. A century later the French Government collected all the scientific studies of this great citizen of Paris and published them, that the record of his researches might be preserved for all time.

Lavoisier showed the errors of the theory of phlogiston—that hypothetical, material substance which was believed to be an element of all combustible compounds and to produce fire when liberated. He proved fire to be the union of other elements with a gas which he named oxygen.

Lavoisier's work goes on. In the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company the determination of the effects of atmospheric air on lamp filaments, on metals and on delicate instruments is possible because of the discoveries of Lavoisier and his contemporaries.

This is the mark of the General Electric Company, an organization of 100,000 men and women engaged in producing the tools by which electricity—man's great servant—is making the world a better place to live in.

How Parker Prevents Leaking

In Ways Other Pens Cannot Follow

Read this—then try the new Parker D.Q. made for Students only, $3

GEO. S. PARKER entered the fountain pen business 31 years ago because he was able to discover the two vital remedies for leaking. They are:

1. The Parker "Lucky Curve" feed, created and patented by Mr. Parker, which induces capillary attraction, thus making a steady flow while you're writing, and draining back the unused ink when you're through.
2. The Parker "Duo-Sleeve" Cap which forms an ink-tight seal with the barrel when kept tightly screwed on.

These two engineering achievements are built in all Parker pens regardless of price. The new Parker D.Q.—the special pen made for students only—has, in addition, an extra large ring to link to your note-book, or a pocket-clip—either one included free. Also a metal girdle that reinforces the cap.

It's produced by Parker Duofold craftsmen. Its point is 14k gold, tipped with Native Iridium, polished to jewel-like smoothness. Measured by all standards, it's far the finest pen value ever produced under $5. You'll miss the newest thing out if you fail to ask for it.

Y.M. & Y.W.C.A. NOTES

Five girls have been chosen by the Y. W. C. A. to represent the University at the Student Volunteer Conference to be held in Indianapolis from December 28 to January 1. The girls chosen are Miss Katherine Elliott, president of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Frances Field Coleman, Miss Ruth Tucker, Miss Lucy Wilson and Miss Ruth Vogel.

The conference will be composed of representatives from Colleges and Universities from the United States and Canada. Such speakers as John R. Mott, Fred B. Smith, and many other great men of today will address this large assembly of students; the main topics for discussion will center around the relationship between international affairs and the Christian organizations.

Mrs. Harem, Dean of Women at Hamilton College, will speak at the regular Y. W. C. A. service to be held in the recreation room of Patterson Hall, Sunday night. Let's all be there, for Mrs. Harem is a very interesting speaker.

K- AGRICULTURE COLLEGE

ginning the first Saturday after Thanksgiving Day and continuing thru the following week. It is the biggest livestock exposition in the world. The winners of honors in state fairs and in expositions all over the world compete for the highest honors in the Chicago Exposition. The decision made there is the final rating on livestock for the season. A feature of the exposition is the contest for collegiate stock judging teams from the agricultural colleges of the United States and Canada. This was the opening event this year. The team from Kansas Agricultural College won, scoring 4,300 points out of a possible 4,800.

Ontario Agricultural College won second place and Ohio State, third. The highest individual honors went to G. R. Peterson, of Ontario. The University of Kentucky was not represented with a team in the stock judging contest this year. The team sent from here last year finished tenth in the list.

Sheep were the only livestock sent to the exposition from the University of Kentucky last year. Eight sheep were sent and seven prizes won. Among these there were one Grand Champion prize and two champion prizes, a distinction which no other college or contestant won exhibiting sheep.
